Director Marketing & HR,
Mantri Developers Pvt. Ltd

Snehal Mantri, Director Marketing & HR, Mantri Developers Pvt. Ltd. is described by her husband, Sushil Mantri, as a “dynamic leader, pioneer of innovations, a visionary”.

A leader in a male dominated business like the real estate, she says she continues to be “focused, confident and persistent in delivering the best. We have established a special Ladies Club at Mantri Developers wherein female colleagues across departments gather once a month for a dialogue on overcoming any personal and professional challenges.” Then she goes on to explain what celebrating Women’s Day means to her. “In today’s world, the relevance of Women’s Day is more that it was earlier. The woman has grown to become a super woman, expanding her role beyond just homemakers to decision makers in key positions across corporates.

Women are increasingly adding to the society with their multifaceted roles. Women’s Day is a celebration of the never-die-spirit and the metamorphosis that has taken place among women in the last decade. We at Mantri, celebrate Women’s Day in honour of women power and the contribution that they make in all aspects of life. The concept of celebrating Women’s Day is beyond just a one day celebration of the spirit of womanhood. Despite having successfully climbed the tallest mountains and dived the deepest seas, a large number of women continue to live lives in the shadow of others.

We need to nurture these individuals and help them break the barrier, explore the true potential power of a woman. In this sense, I believe every day is Women’s Day, where we are celebrating our die hard spirit and pushing boundaries to explore newer possibilities within and around us.
